C. Y. Taggart, the blind plane tuner and pioneer of that business in Utah, died at his home. $76 First street, yesterday morning. The cause of death was heart lisease, from which he has suffered but a short time.

OFFICERS HERE GATHERING EVIDENCE AGAINST HER.

A message was received westerday from Sheriff C. F. Emery stating that he would leave Grand Rapids today for Salt Lake with his prisoner, Mrs. Aurora Hodge, the confessed murderess of Willess and pioneer of that business in Utah, died at his home. $76 First street, yesterday morning. The cause of death was heart lisease, from which he has suffered but a short time.

On Tuesday Mr. Taggart seemed to be fay he was taken sick, and Dr. C. F. Wilcox was called in. The physician found that the trouble lay with his heart and gave treatment accordingly, but it was of no avail. The patient sank continually until death claimed him at 7:45 yesterday morning.

The deceased was born in Belfast, Ireland, March I, 1824. He spent his boyhood days there and early in life took up the profession of plano tuning. He became an expert at the work. While still a young man he lost his eyesight in a rora Hodge, the confessed murderess of William X. Ryan. Requisition papers were sent to the sheriff Tuesday, but in his message that officer stated that the papers were not necessary as the woman had consented to return without them. It is expected that the sheriff and his prisoner will arrive here Sun-

As soon as Mrs. Hodge is safely landed in the jail here she will be confronted with the facts in the case so far as the officers have been able to ascertain them. It is believed that she will then tell everything she knows. The officers are certain that she is lying about the manner in which she dispatched the peddler and her reason for doing so. They do not doubt her story of having shot him, but they believe that she first doped him. They also believe that if there was any one with her in the crime they will be able to force her to disclose his identity. However, they do not believe that she had

Seeking More Evidence.

Sheriff Emery's deputies are busy in the absence of their chief, trying to gather up more evidence against Mrs. Hodge. They succeeded yesterday in learning some facts that had they known earlier would have led to the arrest of the woman some time ago, so they state. It was learned from a Farmington deputy that on the night of July 6 Mrs. Hodge remained all night Vright in Centerville.

It is said that during the evening, while she was talking with the family she asked Mr. Wright if he thought there was any forgiveness for one who committed murder. Mr. Wright told her that he did not think there was. Mrs. Hodge, it is said, differed with him Mrs. Hodge, it is said, differed with him on that point and argued that there was. She learned from Mr. Wright that he had a son on a mission near Denison, Ia., and gave him a letter of introduction for his son to present to her brother, who is with the telephone company of that place. This letter was signed "Allie." From this there is no doubt in the minds of the officers but that the woman who stopped at the Wright home was Mrs. Hodge.

Efforts are still being made to get trace of Cornelius Hodge, the husband of the confessed murderess. But as yet the quest has been a futile one. The the quest has been a futile one. The man seems to have disappeared com-pletely without leaving a trace behind. It is not believed, though, that he went in the same direction as his wife.

soon after she had taken the drug, and by prempt work a physician managed to save her life.

About 3 o'clock yesterday morning the woman, who had appeared very despondent during the day, retired to her room, saying she was going to take a much needed sleep. Not very long afterwards several of the other women in the house heard her moaning. Going to the room they discovered her lying upon the bed, writhing in her suffering. Close beside the bed on a dresser was found a small vial that had contained morphine. The bottle was empty, but it is not believed that the woman took all of the contents at one time.

A dector was hastily summoned and pumped the drug from her stomach. Retitoratives were applied, and after working over her for nearly an hour she was pronounced out of danger.

The cause of the woman's rash action is said to be the fickleness of the man the loved. Some days ago, it is declared. In left her for another woman, and she attempted suicide as a resuit.

Riot in Persia Which Lasted Nearly a Month,

London, July 29 .- The Times this morning describes seditious religious riots in the city and province of Yezd, central Persia, which lasted more than a fortaight and culminated at the end of June. The outbreak was directed against religious reformers called babis. In the city for two days every babi found was butchered by the rabble and the mutilated bodies were directed through the streets followed dragged through the streets, followed by exultant crowds. Houses were looted, women murdered and finally the priestly leaders of the rioters enjoined the populace to bring all the babis be-fore them for judgment. The governor refused at first to listen to the threats of the crowd, but the residence was
